MISANTHROPIC OSTRICH HARRIES ZOO KEEPERS

Must Be Interviewed with Pole at Clean-up Time.

There is an ostrich at the Zoo who just naturally can't like human beings. He is the big black fellow from California, and when the keepers have occasion to enter the enclosure where he is confined they prepare for a battle. Only one keeper was found who said he was not afraid of the bird. "Ostriches are like people," he opined. "Let them now you are not afraid of 'em and they back water. When that ostrich comes after me I just pay no attention to him and he leaves me alone." By interviewing others it was learned that the usual method of combat was to take an extra man in the pen and engage the bird in combat. He usually carries a long pole with which he can keep the ostrich at a safe distance while the other men are at work.

GUARD TO BE DRILLED BY ARMY CANDIDATES

The young men who are attempting to enter the United States army from civil life and who have been taking examinations at Fort Myer for the past week, will drill a war strength platoon made up from the troops of the Third Infantry, National Guard of the District of Columbia.

Brig. Gen. William E. Harvey has been requested to furnish the troops which are to report to the commanding officer at Fort Myer this morning.

ORDWAY AGAIN AWAITS PAYMASTER'S ARRIVAL

Another pay day is looming at Camp Ordway. It is expected to arrive sometime between Thursday and September 5. Officers and men await it anxiously. The making of pay rolls is now becoming familiar to the first sergeants of the companies, and it is believed that few will be sent back from the office of Capt. French, depot quartermaster at Fort Myer for corrections after they are once turned in.

COMPTROLLER RULES IN FAVOR OF GUARDS

The District Guardsmen who enlisted after the call for mobilization will receive pay for their services from the date of enlistment until their muster into the service of the United States, not withstanding the fact that the army paymaster has held up that pay.

The Comptroller of the Treasury made this ruling at the request of the Secretary of War.

SILK INDUSTRY FACES TIE-UP BY EMPLOYEES

New York, Aug. 27.—Paterson faces a repetition of the big silk strike of 1912, which halted for a time the industry in "the Lyons of America." The I. W. W., which caused that tie-up, has given the silk manufacturers until 9 a. m. tomorrow to accept their price list, which specifies increases for all kinds of work.

Several shops already have accepted the list, but the majority are holding out. The I. W. W. announces that the employees in twenty-five mills at least will leave their looms tomorrow if the manufacturers have not consented to the demands.

Ten thousand posters printed in several languages were placarded about Paterson, stating what will be done after the strike is called. It is planned to have the workers go into the mills at 7 o'clock, and if the manufacturers still hold out, they will leave the mills at 8.

RECRUITING STOPS AS BORDER TRIP FADES

Recruiting for the District National Guard is at a standstill. Not a man applied at the recruiting tent at Camp Ordway for enlistment yesterday, nor was a man sent in from the four city recruiting stations.

The inactivity of District troops at Camp Ordway, and the dull prospects for a trip to the border has discouraged Washington young men from enlisting, the officers believe.

They are thankful that the chances of a border trip did not fade before the organizations were up to minimum strength.

SHARK NIBBLES FISHERMAN.

New Orleans, Aug. 27.—William Leroy, a shrimp fisherman, is in a hospital suffering from wounds inflicted Thursday by a shark, which attacked him while drawing in a net in Grand Lake. Most of the flesh was torn from the lower part of his left leg. Attending physicians say the wounds may prove fatal, as infection has set in.

Grand Lake is on the marshlands off the southeast coast of Louisiana, and is fed by water from the Gulf.

ARMY HORSE HONORED FOR FAITHFUL WORK

Guardsmen who are seeing the South-west for the first time have not ceased to be impressed by the strange customs of the Texans, and the tender sentiments hidden away in their hearts are strangely contagious. One militiaman told of a touching tribute paid to an army horse at Fort Sam Houston in a letter to his family here recently. At the time he was a convalescent at the army hospital, having had a slight attack of fever. The letter read in part:

"Within easy walking distance from the fort is a grave, marked by a small tombstone, on which is carved:

"Foxhall, Faithful Army Horse. Died Jan. 10, 1910, at the Age of 38. This legend is followed by a brief history of the horse's faithful service and the unusual honor he enjoyed after retirement.

"Foxhall was the only animal on the retired list of the army. He was recruited in 1913 by Secretary Garrison for twenty-four years of meritorious service, including campaigns in Cuba and Porto Rico, and an overland march of 1,000 miles from Fort Riley to Fort Sam Houston.

"The horse, Garrison directed that the horse be attached to Battery A, Third Field Artillery, for care and maintenance, contrary to the usual practice of selling army horses when they are condemned."

The home of the oldest and best known jurist in Southwestern Iowa, was invaded early in the evening in a net in Grand Lake. Most of the articles carried out and placed in a light wagon backed up to the rear door, where evidences of the manner of theft were found later. A grandson slept peacefully on a sofa at the time.

Great Britain is working at "top speed" on her replies to the American protests against the blacklist and interference with the mails. This information has been conveyed to the State Department in response to the various requests from this government that the answers be expedited.

The inference is drawn, therefore, at the State Department that the replies will be received early this week.
